

GREETER (CONT'D)
You're boarding gate is at G8. You can wait there till then. Thank you for flying with us, we'll see you soon.

Greeter smiles and turns away walking toward another being. Drifter turns and begins looking at the signs at the portals.

A CHUTE WITH A SIGN READING "G8" ABOVE WITH SOME CHAIRS BELOW.

The chairs are all facing toward each other in a U-shape. There is a woman sitting in a chair also holding an egg and looking a little nervous. Drifter sits down at a chair near the woman.

LADY
Hi.

DRIFTER
Hi.

LADY
You're going to the same world as me, glad I'm not the only one. Are you excited?

DRIFTER
Excited isn't exactly the word I'd choose to use for myself.

LADY
You've probably seen so many worlds, that you're accustomed to it. Me... I still get excited and nervous every time.

DRIFTER
Yeah, many lives, but I'm not much of an incarnator anymore. I did my time, so I'm somewhat retried... however when the Arcturian council summons you from 100,000 light years away... it's probably a good idea to head the call.

LADY
Sure. I figure I'm pretty fond of Earth... so if I can help it out even a little, then great.

(pause)
You seem familiar...
(MORE)

LADY (CONT'D)

have we met before, perhaps on Earth? Maybe somewhere else?

DRIFTER

Earth is a pretty big place... but it's possible. I'd have to search through my Earth memories, I've got quite a few... a lot, actually. I haven't been through my storage unit in years.

LADY

Yes... yes, I'm sure we met. You're very familiar. Well, I'm glad to cross paths with you again, even if you don't remember me... and I vaguely you. It's always good to reunite with someone familiar. Who knows, maybe we'll be neighbors.

DRIFTER

Yeah, maybe. That might be pretty cool.

LADY

Well, if it turns out that I'm your mother, I promise I'll be good to you.

Lady's egg starts to glow really bright with a mix of colors and dominant in white light and red-violet. She looks at the egg and stands up.

LADY (CONT'D)

Well, my time to leave this world... but I'll see you in the next life.

DRIFTER

Looking forward to it... great meeting-remeeting you again!

She smiles and dives head first into the tube, as if entering enthusiastically into a water slide. Drifter is sitting alone now looking around. After about 15 seconds his egg begins to light up as well very bright with a mixture of sky-blues and white light. He gets excited and stands up.

DRIFTER (CONT'D)

Alright, this is it. Here we go!

He takes a running start and dives headfirst into the tube of light.