

Mal enters again, and grabs a fruit. Cal also enters with her. RA = 3.5 yo.

MAL

I'm starving. You ready, dear?

Paul hands over Ra to Mal and a fruit for each one of them.

PAUL

Thanks for the play date, really nice.

MAL

I loved it.

PAUL

Great memories we made.

The two families each go their separate directions each eating fruit on the way and carrying the baskets of fruit.

MAL, PAUL, AND RA REACHING THE FRONT OF THE GRANDPARENTS DOOR AND ENTERING IN.

INT. LIVING ROOM - DAY

GRANDMA AND GRANPA IN A LIVING ROOM.

Grandpa in a chair eating fruit from a barrel of fruit on the side. Grandma is nursing grandpa, reaching behind and underneath it and taking a bed pan into another room and coming back quickly. The family enters in.

G-MA

You all made it! Wow, Ra is so big now.

MAL

How is pa doing?

G-MA

Oh, you know, his mind is good, but I don't know how many minutes he has left. He spent so many quarter-hours working to save up, that he can't even really enjoy his retirement.

G-PA

Ra! My boy! Come here and let me meet you.

Mal puts down Ra and he runs onto his grandpa's lap. Ra starts tugging on Grandpa's wrinkles and playing with his face. RA = 4 yo.

Come here son, let me show you your relatives.

Grandpa stands up with great difficulty, taking Ra to the pictures on the wall and pointing at pictures while he speaks.

See, that's me when I a young man, hours ago seems like yesterday. That's your great-great-great G-pa and G-ma in the age of 8 am.

RA

That's morning.

G-PA

Yes, different age, things were so new back then.

RA

(pointing)

That's Bob!

G-PA

(confused)

No, that's his distant relative.

(to others)

How's he know, Bob, strange.

RA

Alien friend. Brought me here.

G-PA

Strange imagination. Can't wait your time imagining.

(pointing at a picture at night)

Now, that's our ancestors some 8 generations ago. They lived in an age of darkness, had to work the night shift by the light of the moon. Darker times.

G-MA

Come dear, sit down and eat. You're exerting yourself.

G-PA
Yes, I'm feeling a bit tired and hungry.

G-Pa sits down in his chair putting Ra down as her runs into his parents arms. RA = 4.5 yo.

PAUL
We should be going now, lovely living with you these past minutes.

MAL
Little Ra's about to start school soon, best get him ready.

Paul, Mal, and Ra begin to leave with their basket.

G-MA
So good to see you, make sure you call.

G-PA
Have a safe trip.

The three of them wave goodbye as they leave out the front door.

EXT. WALKWAY BETWEEN HOUSES - DAY

PAUL, MAL, AND RA WALKING QUICKLY TO THEIR HOUSE.

MAL
You see that picture of that sunrise? Imagine how beautiful it would be to live in the Age of Sunrise.

The arrive at the front door when Bob 2 also arrives.

BOB 2
Special delivery of fresh picked Roids and new clothes for the growing boy.

PAUL
Oh thanks so much, tell your parents and son hello.

Paul takes out some fruit and hands it to Bob as payment.

BOB 2
Thanks, will do.
